Researcher 2023-present
CENTAI (Research Institute at Intesa Sanpaolo) Turin, Italy
Develop computational methods for marcoeconomic measurement from digital transaction records, such as from CBDCs. Further collaborative projects involving inter-firm transaction networks, digital payment systems, and synthetic data generation for anti-financial crime initiatives. Supervise M.Sc. students at University of Turin.

Postdoctoral Researcher 2020-2022
Leiden Institute of Advanced Computer Science Leiden, Netherlands
Completed projects mapping real-world payment systems from digital transaction records, the graph structure of production networks, and temporal networks. Drove a research collaboration involving multiple universities and government departments. Supervised and co-supervised M.Sc. students in the Computational Network Science Lab.

Graduate Research Fellow 2014-2020
Network Science Institute, Northeastern University Boston, MA
Developed theoretical and computational frameworks for analyzing financial networks using transaction-level data.
